

I love Mondays!

Mary is at home in the kitchen with her family.

Mom So, Mary. What does your school timetable look like this year?

Mary It's OK, I guess. Mondays are great because I have double science in the morning and woodwork in the afternoon. I don't have art this year, so that's good.

Mom Why?

Mary Well, because I don't like the teacher. And, anyway, it's boring. Just like history. Let's see: it says here that I have history on Tuesdays and Fridays at quarter past two. Oh no! And it's PE on Friday mornings.

Dad You're good at sports, so what's wrong with PE?

Mary I like skateboarding and stuff. But not organized sports with the whole class. Besides, the changing rooms are always so cold.

Dad I hope you have Spanish lessons again this year, hija.

Mary Of course! I mean we talk Spanish at home a lot, so I'm pretty good at it.

Diego starts laughing.

Diego I see that you have cookery this year. Cookery! Your poor teacher! Does he know that you're good at burning food? Ha! Ha! Ha!

timetable – schema

I guess – tror jag, antar jag

double – dubbelktion

in the morning – på förmiddagen

in the afternoon – på
eftermiddagen

anyway – i vilket fall som helst

boring – trist

it says – det står

quarter past – kvart över

organized – organiserad

besides – förresten

changing room –

omklädningsrum

hija – spanska: flicka

cookery – matlagning

burn – bränna

food – mat